On a daily basis, the news media reports stories of data security breaches at companies large and small. Besides exposing sensitive customer and corporate data, these breaches can be embarrassing and expensive to repair, both in terms of the potential data loss and the public relations impact.

For most organizations, a solid firewall strategy remains the first line of defense against hackers and corporate spies. For over 15 years, the Enterprise Consulting Group (ECG) has been providing firewall installation and support services to companies throughout St. Louis and the Midwest.

Our vendor certified, field experienced engineers deploy, tune and support firewalls in production environments across all industries, for large and small businesses alike. We specialize in:

- Firewall installation & configuration
- Firewall clustering
- Rule base design & analysis
- Firewall migrations & upgrades
- Periodic "Health Checks"
- DMZ design

We also provide a firewall lab environment for training and knowledge transfer with your firewall team.

Our services are available for both Check Point and Cisco firewalls, and can be delivered as a standalone engagement or as part of an ongoing firewall support strategy. And, like all ECG professional services, our firewall service engagements include full documentation of the activities performed via an Engineering Site Report.

For customers that require ongoing assistance, ECG offers a full range of Firewall Support Services including 24x7 telephone coverage and remote or on site engineering support.
